ABOUT OUR PRESENTERS

Elizabeth L. Edge, LCSW, is a psycho-dynamically trained psychotherapist, working with individuals, couples, and families. She earned her Masters in Social Work from Smith College in 2003. She has over six years experience in the addiction field, co-founding the Sex Addiction treatment track at Talbot Recovery Campus. In April 2010, she will complete the fourth of four modules and earning her CSTAT (Certified Sexual Addiction Therapist), training under Patrick Carnes, the pioneer in the field of sex addiction and compulsivity.

Steve Harris, LCSW, CSAT-S is a licensed clinical social worker, and has been in private practice as a psychotherapist since 1987. He has worked extensively with a wide range of psychological and emotional difficulties, addiction and recovery, couples, families and groups, men's issues, and survivors of childhood trauma. Steve has written, lectured, led workshops, and provided training, supervision and consultation. His interests include helping people address compulsion and freedom in the areas of sex, work, relationships and spirituality. In addition to providing psychotherapy aimed at problem resolution and change, Steve assists individuals seeking greater health, creativity, and thriving. Having worked in a variety of treatment settings, Steve has been with Metropolitan Psychotherapy Associates since 1992, and helped found The Metropolitan Counseling Services low cost clinic in 1995, where he has been a clinical supervisor for over ten years. He is also a therapist and consultant with the Dual Addiction Program at Talbot Recovery Campus. Steve is a Certified Sexual Addiction Therapist and a CSAT Approved Supervisor for therapists training in sexual addiction treatment. From 2001 to 2004, Steve was the Atlanta Representative for the Musicians' Assistance Program, helping chemically addicted musicians get treatment and recovery to resume productive careers in music.

Alan Yorker, MA, LMFT is currently the Coordinator for the Dual Addiction Program at the Talbot Recovery Campus in Atlanta, one of the nation's leading treatment centers for addicted health and mental health professionals. His training after receiving his graduate psychology degree at Georgia State University includes a Clinical Fellowship at the University of California San Francisco, where he initiated study to become a sex therapist. He went on to further post graduate study at the Kinsey Institute for Research in Sex, Gender and Reproduction at Indiana University, where he completed an advanced certification program. He was a founder of the Georgia Chapter of the American Association of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists in 1987. He has served as Chair of the Georgia Composite Licensing Board, as well as serving the Georgia Association for Marriage and Family Therapists as its Legislative Affairs Chair for five years. He has lectured on human sexuality at Emory University for fifteen years in the Schools of Medicine, Nursing and Allied Health. He has been a licensed Marriage and Family Therapist since 1976.
